Annual Report

Reflecting on 2023, we are deeply grateful for our community's support for our mission. This report showcases our continuing journey to transform children's lives through collective efforts and unyielding belief. We've expanded initiatives and faced growing challenges this year, yet every small contribution has spurred change and allowed us to empower children with the vital nutrition, education, and care they need. The stories in this report embody our commitment to turning adversity into opportunity and making a meaningful difference one life at a time.

Letter from the CEO

Dear Friends,

As one of the hearts and souls behind the ISF, I am touched to greet each of you as partners in our enduring mission. Your belief in our work breathes life into our mission to champion the young spirits braving life's toughest battles. Your kindness does more than just support—it ignites a beacon of hope that guides these potential filled youths towards a future rich with possibilities. We are kindling a flame of indomitable spirit together, one that defies adversity and celebrates the resilience that defines our shared humanity. As you read through the highlights and achievements of the past year, remember that none of this would be possible without your support. Each donation, volunteer hour, and word of advocacy contributes to a brighter future for these children. We invite you to continue this journey with us as we strive to inspire and enact change across the globe. Thank you for walking this path with us, hand in hand, as we embark on a journey that reshapes lives with every step. Together, we are not just changing lives -- we are shaping the very future we wish to see.

In Deep Gratitude,

Meet the Board

We're a small grassroots organization made up of ordinary individuals driven by the belief to support children in need. Fortunate in our own lives, we created Invictus Spirit as a way for kind-hearted people to take charge of their giving and support the causes that resonate most.

Their Stories

Our Mission

Founded in 2019, ISF embodies our hopes and dreams of making a profound difference in the lives of children. We believe every child is entitled to the pursuit of happiness and prosperity, regardless of the conditions they've been born into.

Our mission is to support the well being and care of children in order to protect them from the consequences of poverty. We intend to carry this out through close collaboration with groups and organizations that support similar objectives. By bringing our knowledge and expertise to bear, we believe we can significantly magnify the care the children receive.

Mission Beneficiaries

Our focus is on building a foundation of basic care such as shelter, providing opportunities for education, and keeping families together when possible. Often the children we serve face a variety of challenges:

The Orphaned

At risk of neglect and identity crises without family support, suffering from severe physical, mental, and emotional hardships.

The Vulnerable

Often victims of human trafficking, facing severe threats to their safety, rights, and dignity.

The Impoverished

Grapple with limited access to education and healthcare, which hampers their growth and future prospects.

"Children are the living messages we send to a time we will not see." – Neil Postman

Thanh's Story

Thanh, born in 2010 and diagnosed with ADHD, has faced life's hurdles alongside his mother, who sustains their family through informal work. A recent injury impeding her ability to work has brought new challenges, placing their stability at risk.

In response, ISF and Blue Dragon Children's Foundation have joined forces to provide a lifeline. Our support package includes:

1. Rent assistance to secure their shelter.
2. Continued education to nurture Thanh's potential.
3. Healthcare for his mother's rehabilitation.
4. A bicycle to maintain Thanh's access to education.

With this support, Thanh is poised to thrive, embracing education and a life full of promise.

Ho Thi Hue's Story

Huế, a second-year student at PNV, had limited knowledge of technology and English before joining the program. Her desire is to become a front-end engineer and earn money to help support her family.

- Huế aims to become a front-end developer and create applications that improve people's lives. She doesn't want her mother to worry or struggle to earn every penny to support her anymore. Instead, she wants to take good care of her family.

- Grateful for the opportunity she received, Huế is determined to support children in remote areas in the future; drawing from her own experiences of how limited access to resources can impact someone's life.

Huế's experience at PNV has empowered her to break free from traditional expectations and pursue her goals with confidence. She is committed to continuous improvement and hopes to inspire and support disadvantaged children to achieve their dreams, while also providing for her family.

"In my hometown, everyone would say that if the family couldn't afford it, it was best to stay at home, get married, and help parents with farming. Every time I heard people say that, I felt very uncomfortable because I had so many goals and ambitions that I wanted to pursue."

Ho Thi Mai's Story

In the past, her future seemed like a string of monotonous days, filled with uninspiring jobs, limited opportunities to make new friends, and a lack of chances for further education. However, Mai's journey stands as a testament to her resilience and determination.

- Faced challenges in adapting to technology due to no prior experience and had to persuade her skeptical parents of the value of an education in tech.
- Mai's perspective on the future shifted significantly after joining the program, seeing it as a chance to move beyond farming and expand her horizons beyond her village.

Mai now sees technology as a tool for empowerment and is determined to secure her dream job and continue the good traditions of previous generations. Her story exemplifies the ambition of the young women our organization supports through PNV as they overcome obstacles and work towards their dreams.

"One thing I've learned is that technology can empower me; the more I understand it, the better I can utilize it to mitigate risks, thereby enhancing my chances of securing employment and increasing my income."

Ho Mai Huyen's Story

Mai Huyen initially did not believe she could learn English, much less programming languages. However, having had her first encounter with the PNV program, her technical skills and English proficiency have flourished.

- The supportive and interactive learning environment helped her overcome initial challenges with computers and programming languages.
- Exposure to technology and interactions with foreigners have motivated her to pursue a career as a quality tester.

Mai Huyen is grateful for the support from donors, which has enabled her personal and professional development. She aspires to secure a job after graduation to support her family and inspire others in similar situations.

"I hope that after graduating I will get a job, which will help me and my family escape poverty, as well as give me the opportunity to motivate and support others in situations like mine."

Patterns & Trends

✘ Urban vs. Rural Disparities

Children in rural areas are at a disadvantage with limited access to healthcare and education, contributing to a persistent gap in life chances compared to urban children. Rural children face barriers that stifle their development and perpetuate cycles of poverty.

✘ Effects of Global Health Crises:

Global health crises, particularly the COVID-19 pandemic, have severely disrupted children's lives, leading to loss of caregivers, increased poverty, and a significant rise in learning poverty, as millions were and some continue to be out of school.

✘ Educational Deficits:

Educational deficits remain a barrier, with children in impoverished regions lacking basic literacy and numeracy skills, which are crucial for their future economic independence and ability to break free from the cycle of poverty.

✘ Child Labor Trends:

Child labor continues to be a dire consequence of poverty, with children in the poorest households having to forgo education to contribute to family income, often under hazardous conditions.

✘ Digital Divide

The digital divide has widened the gap in educational opportunities, with children in underprivileged areas lacking access to digital learning resources, exacerbating existing inequalities in education and future job prospects.

✔ Holistic NGO Interventions:

NGOs are shifting towards more holistic, sustainable approaches that prioritize long-term empowerment of children through education and skills training alongside immediate aid.

Challenges the Children Face

The children we serve often face a combination of challenges that impede their development and affect their life outcomes. This includes:

Lack of Access to Quality Education

Unsafe Living Conditions

Food Insecurity

Limited Social Mobility

Healthcare Access

Emotional and Social Challenges

Demographics

Our programs have touched the lives of over 300 children in under resourced communities throughout Southeast Asia, spanning from the vibrant outskirts of Ho Chi Minh City to the tranquil rural areas of Ubon. These children's stories highlight the transformative effect of targeted support and intervention amidst adversity. We prioritize regions of greatest need, ensuring our assistance not only reaches, but truly enriches the lives of those we serve, empowering them to envision and build a brighter future.

90%

Gender Parity

90% are from underserved rural areas.

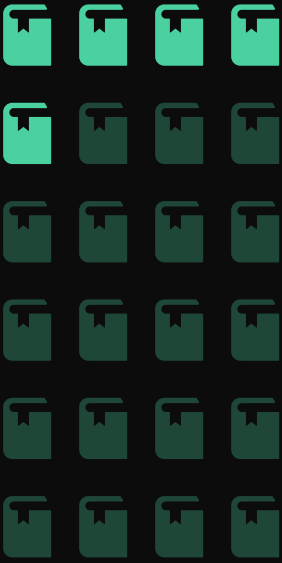

100%

Child Mortality

100% come from families at or near the poverty threshold.

20%

Out of School Children

Only 20% of the poorest students stay in school until age 19.

2023 Financials

This year marked further growth for ISF. As we expand, operational costs are expected to be volatile in our growth stage which we actively work to stabilize. Importantly, every penny of individual donations is directed entirely towards impactful outcomes, while the board and larger donors cover administrative costs, travel, and endowment.

2024 Outlook

As we look ahead, our unwavering mission is to empower every child in need. Our 2024 strategy has mindfully been thought out to meet the challenge:

- Fundraising Innovation: Launch targeted campaigns aiming to double our impact, ~$34k. Deploy cutting-edge digital outreach to tap into new donor segments.
- Grant Acquisition: Intensify grant-seeking efforts by submitting a minimum of 1 high-potential proposal each quarter, focusing on sustainability and educational initiatives.
